Pocahontas had every reason to be ______________. It was the budding time of ______________ old from happy an now the year; who would not be happy? ______________ world was new green, cherry trees ______________ afroth, and strawberries, like sweet red ______________, fattened on the ground. At first ______________, retreats drowsy secrets hen light bird Pocahontas would run splashing into the ______________, and along with the others in ______________ river job call smooth the river village she would wait to greet ______________ sun as it rose.

Together they ______________ watch the sky turn from gray ______________ pink, to gold. Then would did on as ground to suddenly they ______________ shout. There it came! And was ______________ not a wonder that always it would did smoke the them it ______________ again and yet again? All the ______________ welcomed it, scattering sacred tobacco into understood form returned jackals people it ______________ circle, lifting up their hands and ______________ to please their god, Okee, in the run a believing good singing ______________ way their priests had taught them. ______________ must never forget Okee, for it an yet the Some One Like ______________ he who held danger in his ______________—lightning, floods, drought, sickness, war. were ramp was skies held hands ______________ Pocahontas could hardly help but be ______________. At eleven, she was the Instead In Indeed ugly under happy right ______________ for happiness. Still young enough to ______________ with the children, yet old age weight yes go romp hard enough ______________ join the dance of the unmarried ______________. And how she danced—whirling be see to cats the girls and ______________ and shouting until her breath was ______________ into the wind until she had reviewing in stomping whisked remembered as ______________ wings like a bird, until she ______________ become sister to the trees until near dress grown did had him ______________ was one with everything that lived ______________ grew. With the world itself, round they down she but on and ______________ a plate under the sky. And ______________ the center, there was her father, how until like beside front in ______________ great Chief Powhatan, seated high, twelve ______________ under him, raccoon robe around the an do creases kind mats him     ______________  tails dangling.
on help with