We are dedicated to developing innovative, evidence-informed, and practical approaches to pressing health and social challenges.

Our primary research areas include:

- children, youth, and families
- disability and aging
- justice policy
- population health and health policy

Kris Sahonchik, Director
Cutler Institute for Health & Social Policy
207-780-5856 | kriss@usm.maine.edu
34 Bedford Street, P.O. Box 9300
Portland, ME 04104-9300
usm.maine.edu/muskie/cutler
Our more than 130 experienced staff take pride in our collaborative partnering with clients throughout the nation, from state and federal agencies to the private sector. With advanced degrees and decades of experience in areas of policy, social work, law, education, business administration, and public health, the Cutler Institute’s staff provide global, multidisciplinary approaches and resources to complex issues.

Using research and policy analysis, training and technical assistance, as well as program development and implementation, the Cutler Institute’s practical approach helps to translate best practices into everyday practice for government and community agencies.

Our staff are committed to working closely with each client – no matter the scope of the project – to examine the root of an issue and provide sustainable solutions that help leaders and organizations further their mission and vision. We work closely with our partners to understand readiness for change, identify potential challenges, and develop the structure and organization needed for implementation. We collect and analyze data to inform decisions, conduct training to empower the workforce, and evaluate programs to ensure our efforts achieve the desired outcome. This scope of services and attention to both client and community solutions is unique to the Cutler Institute.